Lytham Hall and Witch Wood

Lytham Hall is a Grade I listed building, it is the only 'stately home' on the Fylde coast and it is owned by local charity Lytham Town Trust. It is managed by regional charity Lytham Heritage Trust for the North West. It is also the only wooded community resource left on the Fylde coast. And for good measure, it also has a number of grade II listed buildings on the estate. The earliest building known to have been on the site of Lytham Hall was a Benedictine Priory dating from the 12th century. The land at Lytham was sold by the Crown to Sir Thomas Holcroft and eventually in 1606 was bought by Cuthbert Clifton of Westby. In the 1750s the Clifton family was financially able to commission the building of a new house. The architect was John Carr of York and the house, built in the Palladian style, was completed in 1764. It was designed and built for Thomas Clifton by John Carr of York between 1752-1764. Witch Wood took its name from the Clifton Family's horse 'the Witch', buried there in 1888.
