Ribby with Wrea

A regular winner of Lancashire's best kept village, a part of the village of Wrea Green existed before the Domesday Book with the name of Ricksby. It has the largest village green in the county and to distinguish it further from the other Wray (near Lancaster), the name "Wrea Green" was born in 1848-49. Watch the ducks in the pond (locally known as 'the Dub'), or in the summer pull up a chair or picnic and watch a game of cricket. There's the popular Club Day event in the summer which brings colour and spectacle. For a spot of lunch you have a choice of options from the Villa Hotel to Dizzy Ducks to the Grapes.
