Singleton

The village was recorded in the Domesday Book of 1086 as Singletun, the settlement was remodelled as an estate village in the late nineteenth century. Singleton Church, 1861 by E.G. Paley, is a Grade II listed building, as is the Fire Engine House built in 1882. The Fire Engine House housed a horse drawn fire engine and became redundant in 1946 but is still a focal point of the village. Singleton is said to have been the residence of one of the more famous Lancashire Witches Mag Shelton. Within easy reach of the Fylde coast resorts, Singleton surrounded by farmland, has maintained its village identity.
